Read the hints and circle the best answers.

1. This person is someone who you know and like very much. You enjoy spending time with this person.

Q. Who is it?

A co-worker

A friend

A pet

2. This is a relationship between friends.

Q. What is it?

Family

Co-workers

Friendship

3. This is something you want to keep to yourself and not tell other people.

Q. What is it?

News

An announcement

A secret

4. This is what you call someone who you do a parti~ular activity with.

Q. Who is it?

A partner

A part

Partially

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Read about Michelle. Then answer questions 1 to 3.

Name: Michelle Cooper

My best friend: Jennifer Lee

Things I like about her: She knows funny jokes. She makes everyone laugh. She's nice and kind to everyone.

Things that are different from me: She likes math, but I like English. She likes chocolate milk, but I like strawberry milk.

1. What does Michelle think of Jennifer as?

Her best student

Her best friend

Her best sister

2. What does Michelle like about Jennifer?

That she spreads rumors

That she knows funny jokes

That she only thinks about herself

3. What does Michelle like?

Math

Chocolate milk

Strawberry milk

Read the letter. Then answer questions 4 to 5.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Dear Alex,

How are you doing? Do you like your new home? How's your new school? It has been a month since you moved to your new city. Did you make many friends? We all miss you a lot. We talk about our best player (That's you!) when we play basketball after school. We had a tournament last week, and we came in second. If you were here, we could have won the whole thing.

Write to tell us how you are doing and what your new school is like. Let's keep in touch. Take care.

Your best friend,
Michael

4. What is true about Alex?

He likes soccer.

He moved to a new city.

He doesn't know how to play basketball.

5. Why did Michael write a letter to Alex?

To blame him for the game

To ask how he is doing

To tell him that he is moving, too

Read the text. Then answer questions 6 to 8.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Having friends makes your life much more fun and exciting. How is it possible? Imagine you had a hard day. You either call or meet your friend and tell him or her about your day. Your friend will understand how difficult a day you must have had if he or she really cares about you. After a talk with your friend, you will feel much better. However, what if you come home alone and find nobody to talk with? How about if you want to play a computer game or see a movie with a friend but have no one to invite? You will become lonely and depressed. Scientific research has shown that your stress decreases and your happiness increases when you have someone to share things together with. Therefore, having friends will make your life much more enjoyable.

6. What is the text about?

Going to college

Going to the movies

Having friends

7. What decreases when you have someone to share things with?

Happiness

Excitement

Stress

8. According to the text, how does having friends affect our lives?

It makes our lives more depressed.

It makes our lives more enjoyable .

It makes our lives more difficult.

Read the story about Angela and Christine. Then answer questions 9 to 12.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Angela and Christine are best friends. They do things together every day. One day, Angela came to school with a new girl. "Who is that girl, Angela?" Christine asked. "This is my cousin Sonia. Her family moved to our town. She's going to study with us," Angela replied. "I see. Hi, I'm Christine. Welcome to our school," Christine said. "Do you want to get some ice cream after school?" Christine asked. "Sorry, but I have something to do with Sonia today," answered Angela. "Oh, OK," said Christine. "Then maybe next time." Christine acted as if she were OK, but she wasn't.

After school she felt upset about what had happened. "Angela has changed. We used to do things together, but since she has her cousin, she doesn't need me anymore," Christine thought.

"Happy birthday, Christine!" said Angela to Christine as she gave her a jewelry box the next day. "I couldn't pick out your birthday present with you, so I brought Sonia and we found this together. Do you like it?" Angela asked. "I thought you didn't want to be friends with me anymore," said Christine, feeling embarrassed. "What? That's not true. You are my best friend. I love hanging out with you. Now let's go get some ice cream," Angela said.

9. Who is Sonia?

She is Angela's sister.

She is Christine's cousin.

She is Angela's cousin.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

10. Why did Sonia come to Angela's school?

She came to visit Christine.

She became a student there.

She wanted to help Angela with her science project.

11. Why was Christine upset?

She had to take care of her baby sister after school.

She had to help her mom move to their new home.

She thought Angela didn't want to be friends with her.

12. What did Angela get for Christine?

A necklace

A jewelry box

A book

LIVEWORKSHEETS