

Now read the emails again. Fill in the blanks with a comma (,), period(.), question mark(?), or apostrophe (')!

Dear Alvar,

How are you__ I am here in San Jose, on tour around the USA__ Unfortunately, we aren't going to Texas so I can't drop in and see you__ How is everything with you__ Are you enjoying your course__ What's your homestay family like? Have you got a lot of American friends__

Well, the tour is great. My tour mates are really fun. I really liked Sequoia National Park__ Do you know there are bears in the park__ Now we are in San Jose. There is a really interesting market here. The food is fantastic__ so I am putting on weight.

Keep in touch.

Your friend__

Carlos.

Hi Xiu,

I am here in San Jose and we are having a great time!

San Jose is near Silicone Valley, the centre for computer programming. The weather is warm and sunny__ and there is so much to see. Right now I am in the hotel, having breakfast. I am having cornflakes__ toast and milk. That_s so American, isn't it? San Jose is a beautiful city__ Today we are going to the San Jose History Museum. There is an exhibition called Becoming American in San Jose. It shows the diaries and photographs of teenagers who immigrated to San Jose. It sounds very interesting. The people here are very friendly too__ Americans always say 'Have a nice day,' and 'You__re welcome.' They are much more polite than some people I know! How is your new job going, Auntie Xiu__ Please write back and tell me all your news.

Love__

Mei-Ling

