

History

First, read this information:

Periods of history

We divide history into periods. There are five periods of history. Each period of history starts and ends with an important event.

Prehistory started when humans first appeared.

Ancient History started when people invented writing.

The Middle Ages started when the Roman Empire fell.

The Early Modern Age started when Columbus discovered America.

The Modern Age started when the French Revolution happened.

➡➡➡ What is a Timeline?

A timeline is a picture of events that happened in history.

We order the events chronologically.

We always mark an event and write the year it happened.

Now complete this timeline with all the events in history.

Look at the example: The Modern Age started when the French Revolution happened.
