Think of different ways to express these ideas as the recording will most likely use different words.

For example, in the statement the key word might be a noun but in the recording the speaker might express the same idea using a verb phrase.

TIP 06

Be careful. The options in this type of task will not be in the same order as the recording.

ATTITUDE AND OPINION

MULTIPLE MATCHING

In this task type you match one set of information (numbered) with another (lettered). For example, you match people or places in the recording with comments they make or comments made about them. There are two versions of this task – one with more lettered options than questions, so some of the letters are distractors, and one with more questions than options, so the letters can be used more than once.
