

1. Are you ready to enter the world of imagination? Read about this mysterious character and answer the questions.

Willy Wonka has a chocolate factory. When he was a child, Willy loved chocolate and candies more than anything else in the world. But, his father was a dentist and he thought that sweet was bad for children. He always shouted at Willy: "You will never eat chocolate in your life!"

One day Willy decided to taste sweet products, although he knew his father was going to get really furious.

While he was eating Willy started having great ideas to make candies and chocolate better. He told his father he wanted to become a candy-maker and left his house. He never saw his father again.

His sweets became very popular, so Willy opened his own factory. But, other chocolate makers became very jealous and they stole Willy's special recipes and copied them. People stopped buying Willy Wonka sweets so Willy had to close his factory and leave the city.

His factory has been closed for fifteen years but now Willy is back! He has decided to open his factory again, and this time he wants to surprise everyone! He has organised a competition. He has put golden tickets inside five chocolate bars. People are mad about the golden tickets because if you open a Wonka chocolate bar and you find the ticket inside, you will visit Willy Wonka's fantastic factory.

1. What did Willy's father think of chocolate and candies?

2. Willy disobeyed his father's orders and ate sweets. TRUE FALSE

3. What has Willy planned?

4. He closed his factory 15 years ago. TRUE FALSE

5. How many children will visit Willy's factory?
