The Republic of Maldives is one of the most beautiful groups of islands in the world. It is south-west of Sri Lanka in the Indian Ocean. There are about 1,190 islands – they are 820 km long and 120 km wide. The biggest island is called Fua Mulaku and it's only 1.6 km long. The language of the Maldives is Dhivehi but most people speak English, too. The population is about 270,000, but people live on only 202 of the islands. The Maldive islands are wonderful – but they have got a big problem. The ocean is getting higher and higher and the islands are going under the water.
Are you looking for a special holiday? Nowhere is more beautiful than the Maldives. You can relax on the white sand and swim in the clear blue sea – there are amazing fish but look out for sharks. Do you like shopping? Then, go to the capital – Malé – and you can buy clothes, necklaces, bags and lots more.
