

PHRASAL VERBS: BREAK

To stop working (of machinery)
To fail (talks, negotiations)
To destroy

DOWN

To enter by force or illegally
To interrupt

IN

To enter by force
To interrupt

INTO

UP
To separate, split up
To stop for holidays
To terminate or end up
To cease to be together

THROUGH

To advance in spite of opposition
To break a way through (sth solid)

BREAK

OUT
To begin suddenly (of war, fire, etc.)
To escape from a place

OFF
To end (a relationship, agreement)
To stop (temporarily)
To become separate (from sth)

1. The burglartheir house while they were sleeping
2. What were you doing when the fire?
3. My carthree times this month.
4. The couple decidedafter their huge conflict.
5. X-ray scanner is one of the best medical.....
6. He in the middle of a sentence, then continued to talk for an hour.
7. The man.....when the doctor told him that he suffered from cancer.
8. The thief smashed the windowthe building.
9. Tommywhen his father passed away.
10. The two companies decidedtheir diplomatic relations.

IDIOMS OF FEELING

annoyance

fear

happiness

embarrassment

1. My heart was in my mouth when I saw my younger brother fall down into swimming pool.

2. My brother always borrow my things and it drives me up the wall.

3. Sakinah was over the moon when his parents bought him a new handphone.

4. Halim nearly jumped out of his skin when he saw a huge spider crawl under the mat near his bed.

5. Remy went red as a beetroot when his grandmother gave him a kiss in front of his classmates.

6. Hakim Rusly felt on top of the world when he got the award as the most popular singer.

7. There's always a heavy traffic during rainy days. It's a pain in the neck.

8. I fell off of my chair in the middle of my English class. I just wanted the ground to open up and swallow me.

9. I accidentally let out a very audible fart as I bent over, and I got back to my desk as soon as I could so I could sink through the floor.

10. I don't want to watch that horror movie, it gives me the heebie-jeebies.