Participatory Citizenship

Read about what freedom means in Ecuador?

Value: Democratic and participatory citizenship

When we participate in a civil society, our community and/or the country's political events; we must do it in a respectful and non-violent way in accordance with citizen's rights and democratic principles.

Ecuador is a free country. It means that people are allowed to live and believe as they wish. Having freedom is a privilege and should never be taken for granted. Citizens have a responsibility to respect one another's choices.

1. Listen to a couple of friends talk about participatory citizenship.

2. According to the audio, what are examples of how citizens can participate in a civil society? Write the examples on the lines below.
