The First Computer

This is the first computer that was made for our homes: the Altair 8800. It figures out different problems like a calculator does. It's different from computers today. It comes in pieces and you need to put them together yourself.

The Altair 8800 doesn't have a keyboard or a mouse. It doesn't even have a screen. It just has flashing lights. Sometimes the computer doesn't work properly! So, it isn't very useful at home or in the classroom today!

Read and choose Yes or No.

- 1 The Altair 8800 is a projector. _____
- 2 The Altair 8800 figures out difficult problems. _____
- 3 The Altair 8800 has a keyboard. _____
- 4 The Altair 8800 has a screen. _____
- 5 The Altair 8800 has flashing lights. _____
- 6 The Altair 8800 always works well. _____
