

Earth's Rotation

DIRECTIONS: Draw a line to complete the sentence correctly.

Daytime occurs when the part of Earth
where you are . . . once every 24 hours.

It is night when the part of Earth where you are . . . night.

Earth spins on its axis . . . is turned away from the Sun.

Twenty-four hours equals . . . one day.

When the Sun is shining on the opposite side of Earth from you, it is . . . the sun is heating Earth's surface.

When the Sun is shining on you, it is . . . is pointing towards the Sun.

At night, your side of Earth cools down, because . . . the Sun is no longer heating Earth's surface.

It is usually warmer in the daytime, because . . . daytime.