1_ Watch the video

2_ Mark if the statements are TRUE or FALSE

* A diary is a record of personal feelings and emotions that you do not want to forget. TRUE FALSE
* It Is not a friend. TRUE FALSE
* You can keep a daily record of your daily routines, nice experiences, holidays, among other. TRUE FALSE
* Diaries are only red or blue copybooks. TRUE FALSE
* Most entries begin with the word HELLO. TRUE FALSE

LIVEWORKSHEETS

3_ Read and put the diary entry in order.

We went on to see a good number of clocks collected from different European countries. There were bird cage clocks, bracket clocks, grandfather clocks, and skeleton clocks from the 18th Century. It was nearing 3 o'clock, when the guide stopped near an unusual British bracket clock and requested all the visitors to gather around it. As the clock struck 3, a miniature toy soldier came out of an enclosure and struck the gong thrice and returned back to the enclosure. It was time to go back home.

December 30th, 2011

Dear Diary,

I enjoyed every moment of my visit there.

P.S. I missed Fleck a lot when I saw the clock. He would have been delighted. I wish he was here.

A cheerful guide took us around to see the ancient marble statues, crockery, things made of ivory, beautifully carved old wooden furniture, meta statues and a treasure trove of historic things. We were so engrossed in seeing all this that we di not realise that it was noon! Grandma had packed some tasty cheese sandwiches and strawberry cake for lunch. After our delicious meal, we returned back to the museum to continue our tour.

Today was an exciting day. Grandma took me on a surprise outing. We left home at about 9.00 a.m and boarded a bus. A few minutes later, the bus stopped near a large gate. Beyond the gate, I could see a long road with well maintained lawns behind which stood a tall white building called the Brook Museum.

© Mexus Education
www.ikenstore.com
LIVEWORKSHEETS