

Passive voice - Impersonal report structures

Special Passive Structures such as It is believed that.../ It is agreed to... He is said to.../She is thought to... are used when we cannot say or do not need to say who the source of information was.

This type of sentence structure is formal and is mainly used in written English.

❖ There are some verbs that can have two constructions in Passive Voice:

1) Impersonal construction and 2) Personal construction.

❖ These verbs are:

Accept/ admit/ agree/ allege/ announce/ assure/ assume/ believe/ claim/ consider/ comment/ decide/ declare/ discover/ estimate/ expect/ explain/find/ know/ mention/ predict/ suggest/ realize/ report/ say/ recommend/ show/state/ suppose/ suggest/think/ understand

1) Impersonal Construction: (no person – with it)

It + verb in passive (present or past) + that + clause

Examples:

- ✓ People say that she is a millionaire. ⇒ It is said that she is a millionaire.
- ✓ People believe that the President will resign. ⇒ It is believed that the President will resign.
- ✓ They don't believe his health is terrible. ⇒ It is not believed that his health is very terrible.
- ✓ They thought he was responsible. ⇒ It was thought that he was responsible.

2) Personal Construction: (person / subject)

Subject + verb in passive (present or past) + full infinitive form

Examples:

- ✎ They believe his health is terrible. ⇒ His health is believed to be terrible.
- ✎ They say that she isn't a millionaire. ⇒ She isn't said to be a millionaire.
- ✎ People say that Dr Lewis is a good doctor. ⇒ Dr Lewis is said to be a good doctor.
- ✎ Someone reported that the actor suffered an overdose. ⇒ The actor was reported to suffer an overdose.

Note: With these structures the agent of the action is NEVER mentioned (who believes/ who reports/ who knows/ ...)

It + passive verb + that –clause
Subject + passive verb + to-infinitive

People rumour that Angelina Jolie has anorexia
It is rumoured that Angelina Jolie has anorexia.
Angelina Jolie is rumoured to have anorexia

The tense of the passive verb is determined by the active sentence:

rumour = present simple → is rumoured

Passive Gerund = being + past participle

I don't appreciate people lying to me.

I don't appreciate being lied to.

Passive Infinitive = to + be + past part

Someone saw him leave the building

He was seen to leave the building.

Change to impersonal passive

1. They say the PM is dying.
It _____
The _____
2. They expect the concert will finish at about 11pm.
It _____
The _____
3. People said she had been driving drunk.
It _____
She _____
4. They thought she lied to the police
It _____
She _____
5. People know he committed the murder.
It _____
He _____
6. They think rebels have kidnapped him.
It _____
He _____
7. People claim she is a secret agent.
It _____
She _____

Change to Gerund or Infinitive Passive

1. Someone heard her singing.
She _____
2. Daniela hates people telling her what to do.
She _____
3. Marge loves people to give her compliments.
She _____
4. Roger can't stand people pushing him in queues.
He _____
5. The boss wants us to inform him about all the latest developments.
He _____
6. James isn't keen on anyone taking his things without asking.
He _____
7. I resent everyone blaming me for the accident.
I _____
8. Cynthia loves people to give her flowers.
Cynthia _____
9. Someone saw him run away.
He _____