

SECOND CONDITIONAL

The second conditional is used to imagine present or future situations that are impossible or unlikely in reality. Conditional sentences have two clauses.

The situation can be:

If I won the lottery, I would travel around the world.

-or-

I would travel around the world if I won the lottery.

To make a sentence in the second conditional, we use

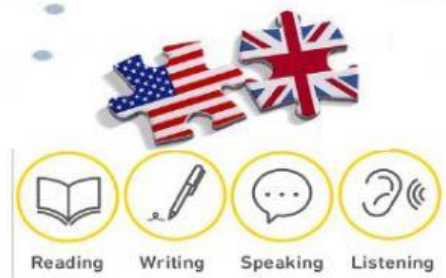

IF + Past Simple, Present Conditional
(To be: use WERE) (would/wouldn't + Verb).

If I lived in a big city, I would go out more often.
If I had more free time, I would play more sport.

As with all conditionals, you can also invert this structure:

Present Conditional + IF + Past Simple
(would/wouldn't + Verb). (To be: use WERE)

I would go out more often if I lived in a big city.
I would play more sport if I had more free time.

An exception about the verb 'to be'

When we use the verb 'to be' in the second conditional, the past form is always were for the subjects I, he, she and it. For example:

If I were rich, I'd buy a big house near the sea.

If he were my boss, I'd look for another job.

Fill with the correct form of the verb in brackets.

1. If a sheep got into your garden, it _____ (eat) all your plants
2. You _____ (not / pass) the exam if you didn't study harder.
3. If I were you, I _____ (not / open) that umbrella inside the house. It's bad luck!
4. I would love to visit Mexico if I _____ (have) the chance.
5. I _____ (write) a book if I had more free time.
6. You would be very healthy if you _____ (eat) an apple every day.
7. I wouldn't do that if I _____ (be) you.
8. If I _____ (have) a penny for each Coke I've ever drunk, I would be rich.
9. If the weather were better, we _____ (go) to the park.

Write the correct form of each verb to make second conditional sentences.
