

Click, Clack, Moo

Farmer Brown had a . His cows could type. They typed a note for Farmer Brown. They asked for electric blankets. Farmer Brown did not want to give the cows electric blankets.

The cows went on strike. They typed a new note for Farmer Brown. They said the barn was closed. They would not give milk.

Then the cows typed another note for Farmer Brown. They said the hens wanted electric blankets.

The cows and hens went on strike. They would not give milk or eggs. Farmer Brown was ! He typed a note to the cows to milk and eggs. He still would not give them blankets.

The cows to have a meeting. They typed a note. Duck brought Farmer Brown the note. The cows said they would exchange their typewriter for electric blankets.

Farmer Brown liked this idea. Farmer Brown and the cows made a deal. The cows and hens got their blankets. Then the ducks began to type!

WORD BANK:

furious
gathered problem
impatient
demand
believe