C. Read the passage and identify the member of family and the use of present perfect:

A NOT VERY COMMON DAY IN MY FAMILY

Today has been a spectacular day. So many things have just happened in my family that at the end of the day we have all laughed, I tell them what have happened to us:

In the morning my mother and father have got up early and they have prepared a delicious breakfast. My brother, my sister and I have fallen asleep until my mother has yelled for us to wake up. We have been scared because my mother's voice is very strong and we have gone to the dining room. Later my cousins have arrived with many candies but we haven't seen my uncle and aunt. Then my grandfather and my grandmother have arrived but they haven't brought us gifts. We have become very sad. To brighten our day, my uncle and his son have baked a giant turkey that has been delicious.

Suddenly the phone rang, my mother's niece has answered. My neighbor and his wife have invited us to the birthday party for their daughter named Mary. Mary has a nephew younger than her with whom we have fun. Mary's stepmother has given us with a delicious piece of cake.

Before the party is over, all the guests have been scared because a big dog has appeared. We have all thought the dog was going to bite us, but it has been a friendly pet.

Some friends of my father and my mother's brother-in-law have arrived in the evening. They haven't been informed that my parents have invited them to lunch and not to dinner.

We have laughed and when we have gone to sleep we could not do it because we haven't arranged our bedrooms.

Did you know?

Your family can be made up of at least five generations.

Remember

The present perfect is formed from the present tense of the verb have and the past participle of a verb.

Curious fact...

We use the present perfect to describe a recent action or ask if something has happened recently.

Relationship with values

Empathy
