Michael's rucksack

I'm Mark and my little sister's name is Katy. Last Saturday, we went to London with our parents. Mum drove us there in the car. Our cousin Michael came to London too, but he went by train so we met him at King's Cross Station. He had a heavy rucksack with him. 'Put your rucksack in our car, Michael,' Dad said. 'We're going to walk now.' 'No, thanks. I might need it,' Michael said.

We went to the dinosaur museum first. I asked Dad lots of questions but he didn't know the answers. Michael took a book about dinosaurs out of his rucksack. 'Here you are!' he said to Dad. 'Thanks, Michael,' said Dad.

When we left the museum, it was raining. 'It's OK,' said Michael. 'I've got an umbrella in my rucksack.'

We went to a restaurant for lunch. There were only chopsticks on the tables and Katy couldn't use them. Michael gave her a plastic fork from his rucksack. 'Have this,' he said.

In the afternoon, we wanted to go to the cinema but we couldn't find it. Michael took a map of London out of his rucksack and we soon found the street where the cinema was.

After the film, Michael wanted to get a postcard but he didn't have any money in his pocket. 'Look for it in your rucksack!' we all said.
