PART B. BAR OPERATION

I. The definition of Bar Operation

According to (Glory, 2018) bar operation is a daily activity carried out by bartenders in accordance with the mechanism that has been prepared by Bar Management, bar manager, assistant bar manager and also head of bartender. They will supervise the bar operation process goes well so that there are no mistakes in providing service to guests. Bar operation has three processes, the first is preparation / opening / pre-service preparation or it can be called mise-en-place which means various jobs that must be done correctly and carefully so that the bar is ready to serve guests well (Astina, 2018). The second process is service to the guest and the third process is closing (Astina, 2018).

II. The Processes of Bar Operation are:

1. Preparation/Opening

In this process there are some steps that must be done by bartender they are:

1.1 Cleaning Bar and also the Equipment

The cleanliness is the most important thing in the bar. Cleanliness of all bar areas such as bar displays, bar counters, bar lounges must always be considered properly so that the bar looks clean and tidy. Bar floors must also be kept clean and dry so that guests can feel comfortable at the bar. The glass in the bar must also be kept clean and shiny without the slightest dust so that the equipment on display looks beautiful. In addition to the cleanliness of the bar area, which is no less important, the cleanliness of the bar equipment must always be considered and maintained properly. Bar equipment must always be cleaned in accordance with established procedures. Blenders, refrigerators, coffee machines, wells, jiggers, bar knives and other equipment must always be clean and ready to use. Bar glasses must also always be clean, washed under running water and dried using a napkin.

1.2 Prepare Par Stock and Bar Requisition

Before the bar is opened to the guests, the bartender must check the supply of beverages at the bar. The beverages available must always be “up to the par.” Par Stock is the minimum number of bottles for each drink required at the bar in a day. If the supply of drinks in a day is lacking or insufficient, then a bar requisition must be made so that the supply of drinks in a day is sufficient. Beverage requisitions can be made every day or not and this depends on the discretion of the bar’s management. The function of the Bar Requisition is to control the entry of beverages into the bar and to maintain stock of beverages at the bar.

1.3 Prepare Bar Display

The bar display must always look clean and tidy. The items on bar display must look clean and tidy accordance with the available space so that it looks beautiful to see. The bar glasses must be grouped according to their type and placed in an inverted position, this is useful so that dust does not enter the glass. Besides bar glasses, the bottles of alcoholic beverages are also displayed on the bar display and grouped according their type so that it looks tidy. The beverage labels must always face the guest so that they can easily read the brand of the beverages.

1.4 Prepare Bartender's Station

All bar equipment must be ensured in clean condition and free of dust. Hand-tool bar must also be ensured in a clean condition such as shakers, mixing glasses, jiggers, pourers, strainers, funnels and others. Bar supplies must also be checked for inventory so that it is enough to use for a day. Bar supplies must be neatly arranged in the available places. If the bartender also handles cash registers, the things that must be prepared are guest bills, cash and sales reports.

1.5 Prepare Bar Counter

Bar counter must always be clean and tidy because this is a place for guests to drink. There are several important things that must be prepared at the bar counter such as ashtrays, drink lists, paper cocktail napkins, flower vases, and other necessary materials so that they can attract the attention of guests to buy drinks. The bar stool in front of the bar counter must also be clean and tidy so that guests feel comfortable sitting and enjoying their drinks.

2. Service to the Guest

After the bar is properly prepared, the materials and tools are available and ready to use, the drinks are complete and the bar area is clean, meaning that the bar is ready to open. There are 4 things that must be considered by bartender in giving service to the guest, as follows:

2.1 Welcoming the Guest

In welcoming guests the bartender must always be friendly and polite in serving the guests. It begins through say greeting such as good morning, good afternoon, good evening according to the time guests come to the bar. Then the bartender can lead the guest to the seat that the guest wants. Greet if you know the guest's name you can say their name and ask "how are you today?" if not you can just ask their condition.

2.2 Taking Order

Taking orders is an activity that is carried out after guests sit down and read the list of drinks available at the bar. After guests sit down, they will be given a list of drinks and give guests time to read and choose the drinks they want to order. While guests are reading the drink list, the bartender will prepare snacks such as nuts or crackers. After that the bartender must prepare an "order pad" which is useful for take a note guest orders. After the guest has chosen the drink they want to order, record the order on the order pad and do not forget to repeat the order so that there is no mistake in taking order.

2.3 Serving the beverage

Serving the beverage is an activity carried out by the bartender after the drinks ordered by guests have been made and the drinks are served to guests using service tray or tray cloth. Drinks must also be arranged neatly on the tray by placing heavy drinks in the middle of the tray and the drinks to be served first are placed on the edge of the tray so that it is easier to serve drinks to guests. Be sure to check the equipment that must be used to serve drinks such as coasters, straws, stirrers, garnishes and glasses.

There are several rules in serving drinks to guests, which is by always serving drinks from the right side of the guest. Serve drinks to female guests first, followed by male guests. First put the coaster on the table and put the drinks on the coaster bag. The way to serve bottle drinks is almost the same, serving from the right side of the guest, put the coaster first, then put the glass on the coaster and the drink is poured into the glass, the rest of the drinks in the bottle can be placed on the guest table. After all drinks are served to guests, the bartender must allow guests to enjoy their drinks.

2.4 Clean up

Clean up is an activity carried out by the bartender when the guest has finished enjoying the drink by cleaning the table area so that the table is ready to be used again. If the guest has finished enjoying the drink and asks for the bill, the bartender can give the bill to the guest using the bill tray and the position of bill is upside down. Ask the guest if he or she will pay using cash or a credit card. If the guest pays using cash, count the money in front of the guest and if the guest pays using a credit card, take the guest to the cashier. After the guest has finished paying do not forget to say thank you very much and come back to your bar again. After the guests leave from the bar it is the turn of bartender do the clean up the table. The empty glasses and bottles should be cleaned. Rearrange the table according to the standards set at the bar.

3. Closing

Closing is the last stage in bar operation. In this stage the entire bar personnel carry out their duties and responsibilities according to their respective duties. The bartender must do an inventory by counting the number of drinks that still available and the results are reported to the bar management. The bartender should also clean the bar area and clean the tools used previously. Re-stocking is also carried out at closing in order to make it easier to opening bar in the next.
