Types of Video Games

Video games are so popular with teens that it may seem they could spend days playing them. They are a way to release stress and to have a good time. There are many different types of video games. Some of them are listed below:

- Action video games: They involve shooting, attacking, and fighting. E.g. Call of Duty.
- Adventure video games: They follow a story line and they look like movies. E.g. Minecraft
- Racing video games: They include cars and chases. E.g. Need for Speed.
- Strategy video games: They develop thinking skills. E.g. Plants vs Zombies.
- Sports video games: They are related to sports or athletics. E.g. FIFA.
