

In about plastic ducks were in a big box on a ship. The ship was in the Pacific Ocean, near . There was an . Soon all the ducks were in the .

Find the on the map near China. It marks the accident.

This duck was in the box on the boat. In 1992, it was in the Pacific Ocean with the toys.

But in , it was on an English beach thousands of kilometres away. Why was it in the ? It was a .

Glossary

X = cross → = arrow

Find the cross on the English . It marks the beach.

The answer is that all the seas and oceans are . The water moves from ocean to . This moving water is called a . Currents are like rivers in the ocean. The arrows on the map show the currents. The currents can things from one ocean to another ocean. This is why the duck was in the .