Football was played hundreds of years ago and many people believe that it originated from England. Football is also called soccer in the US. It is a team game. In each team, there are eleven members, ten players and one goalkeeper. In a football match, two teams play against each other during 90 minutes in a rectangular field. The match is divided into two halves with each half lasting 45 minutes. Between the two halves is a break of 15 minutes. Football players try to kick the ball into the other team's goal, and the goalkeeper tries to stop the ball from getting into the goal. Whichever team scores more goals will win the game. In a football game, only two goalkeepers can keep the ball in their hands.
