Write the present perfect or the past simple form of the verbs.

Bill: Sarah,  you ever  (eat) chicken with chocolate?

Sarah: No, I  never  (have) that!
 you ever  (try) it?

Bill: Yes, I have, and I   (cook) it before, too.

Sarah: When  you  (cook) it?

Bill: Last week. It was unusual, but I  (think) it was delicious!

Write the present perfect or the past simple form of the verbs.

Alex: Hi, Maisy. How was your holiday?

Maisy: Hi, Alex! It was great. I  (go) to Montreal.
 you ever  (be) to Canada?

Alex: No, I  never  (visit) Canada, but I   (be) to Europe.

Maisy: Really? When  you  (go) to Europe?

Alex: Just now, in the summer holiday. We  (fly) to London.  you ever  (visit) Europe?

Maisy: Yes, my family and I  (go) to Paris ten years ago. I  (be) just a baby.

Today is the last day of the summer course and these three friends have had / had a fun time. Last week, they have made / made a film, and we have been / were there to ask a few questions. Our first question was, 'Have you ever shoot / shot a film before?' They answered, 'No, we didn't / haven't!' Amazing! Then we asked, 'Have / Did you enjoy making the film?' They said, 'Yes, this has been / was the best summer course ever!'

'Have you ever eaten / ate shark fin soup?' I asked / have asked a friend this question when we were in a Chinese restaurant. Personally, I have never buy / bought shark fin soup because of its ecological impact. Over the last few years, millions of sharks died / have died for their fins.

Choose the correct options.

What does your dog think about? In 1993, French scientist Marcel Duchien decided / has decided to find out. Since then, he did / has done thousands of experiments to determine what goes on in your dog's mind. Do you know what he has discovered / discovered? During one experiment, almost every dog thought / has thought about food 90 percent of the time. And the other 10 percent? He hasn't found / didn't find out yet!
