

The Ball

Lee was walking home from the park. "What is that over there?" he asked. He saw a small orange and white ball. Lee shouted "oh yes! I cannot wait to take it home!"

Lee bounced the ball for a long time as high as he could. "I am trying to bounce it up to the big blue sky". "I will bounce it so high even the birds cannot get it". Up into a tree the ball went. Lee was so sad he began to cry. "What am I going to do, how will I get my ball"?

Lee sat under the tree and thought of ways to get his ball down from the tree. "It is too tall for me to climb, I may fall" he said. "Oh man! I want to show Jim and Ben that ball. "I wish I could get some help". Lee was sitting there under the tree, when a big wind came and blew the ball from the tree. He was so happy he shouted and cheered "thank you wind, thank you, thank you, thank you!"
