

VILLAGES are  communities with few inhabitants.

CITIES are  communities with a lot of people.

| In a CITY                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | In a VILLAGE                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| A city is <input type="text"/><input type="button" value="BIG"/> <input type="button" value="SMALL"/>                                | A village is <input type="text"/><input type="button" value="BIG"/> <input type="button" value="SMALL"/>                             |
| Streets and roads are <input type="text"/> and wide. <input type="button" value="LONG"/> <input type="button" value="SHORT"/>        | Streets and roads are <input type="text"/> and narrow. <input type="button" value="LONG"/> <input type="button" value="SHORT"/>       |
| The buildings are <input type="text"/> <input type="button" value="TALL"/> <input type="button" value="SHORT"/>                      | The buildings are <input type="text"/> <input type="button" value="TALL"/> <input type="button" value="SHORT"/>                      |
| There is a lot of traffic. A city is <input type="text"/> <input type="button" value="NOISY"/> <input type="button" value="QUIET"/> | There is little traffic. A village is <input type="text"/> <input type="button" value="NOISY"/> <input type="button" value="QUIET"/> |