

203
SHARES

5 Ways to Beat the Stress of Fall's Frenzy & Keep the (Inner) Peace

With summer officially over, school in session, and holiday gatherings on the horizon, this time of year can be a little overwhelming. If your to-do list is getting out of hand, here are 5 simple ways to keep the (inner) peace, from getting outside to simply having a good laugh.

1. Take a nature walk.

Studies have shown that getting outside in nature improves well-being, and you can also gain 1 _____ from autumn's visual cues. For example, those changing leaves are a reminder of impermanence just as they change colours and fall from the trees, so will whatever is stressing you. Be the tree and let what is temporary fall 2 _____.

2. Focus on small tasks.

Practice mindfulness as you complete the smaller things on your list—housework, paperwork, gardening. Focus fully 3. _____ what you are doing right here, right now, checking in with all your senses as you do your tasks. If your thoughts wander to something bigger looming in the future, gently guide your mind back to the task at hand. 4. _____ staying in the present moment, you stop 5. _____ importance and attention to your past or future worries.

3. Watch or read something silly.

Entertainment is more than an escape. Studies have shown that laughter releases the release of stress hormones in your body. Watch a silly movie, or read the latest book from your favourite funny guy or gal.

4. Sing (really).

Studies have found that singing has a positive impact on anxiety, and may even reduce depression. So turn up the music and sing along or gather some friends for karaoke—if nothing else, it will make you laugh (see tip 3).

5. Try a basic breath practice meditation.

This session from Meditation Studio teacher Elisha Goldstein 12. _____ you to do nothing but watch your breath, which 6. _____ makes it easier for you to focus on other tasks in your everyday life (without stressing). During this practice, it's completely OK if you find yourself thinking about other things - just stay with your breath. "If all you did was notice your mind wandering off and gently brought it back over and over again," Goldstein says, "your time would be well-spent."

PATRICIA KARPAS, MEDITATION STUDIO

SEP 27, 2017

Answer these questions about the document

Choose the correct option to complete the text

- | | | | |
|-------------|-------------|------------|------------|
| 1. points | perspective | money | knowledge |
| 2. in | over | away | down |
| 3. around | in | on | over |
| 4. by | on | for | and |
| 5. paying | finding | making | giving |
| 6. suddenly | obviously | eventually | frequently |

7. How would you describe the document?

- a. an email
- b. a webpage
- c. an on-line magazine article
- d. an advert

8. What is the purpose of the document?

- a. to discuss
- b. to instruct
- c. to share
- d. to encourage

9. The tone of the text is:

- a. formal
- b. personal
- c. informal
- d. official

10. Which paragraph includes a quotation? _____

11. What part of the text does the picture illustrate?

12. Which words are most suitable to complete the text?

- a. will invite
- b. invited
- c. invites
- d. has invited

13. What does the pronoun 'it' refer to in paragraph 5, line 2?

- a. watching your breath
- b. focusing on other tasks
- c. doing nothing
- d. stressing

14. The word 'looming' in paragraph 2 could be replaced by:

- a. visible
- b. emerging
- c. far
- d. showing

15. Which pairs of layout features are used in the document?

- a. Bold text and columns
- b. Pictures and diagrams
- c. Subheadings and web links
- d. Web links and text boxes

16. How can pretending to be a tree in Autumn help relieve stress?

17. Write down an example of the imperative in paragraph 1.

18. Name two verb tenses that have been used in paragraph 2

19. Which word could replace 'hand' in paragraph 1 with no change in meaning?

- a. order
- b. sight
- c. bounds
- d. control