

The legend of Jong Batu

Dang Embun was heartbroken."Manis, how could ¹you do this to me? Don't you know ²me any more? I'm your mother. Please come to me dear. I miss you so much." cried Dang Embun.

"No! I'm not your son. I don't have a mother like you. My mother was pretty and rich. You are not my mother! Go away!" shouted Nakhoda Manis. The crew pushed her small boat until it sank. Dang Embun swam to the shore, wept and prayed.

³She cursed her unloving and rude son. Suddenly a storm came! The ship was tossed about and capsized. Dang Embun heard Nakhoda Manis shouting for help and forgiveness from her but Dang Embun just stared at Nakhoda Manis' big ship with tears.

After the storm, there was a huge rock in the river where Nakhoda Manis' ship had sunk in the storm. The rock is known today as "Jong Batu".

Name: _____

A. What does each of the pronouns below refer to (from the passage)?

1. You =

2. Me =

3. She =

B. What are the synonyms (words that have same meaning) of these three words below.

1. Heartbroken =

2. Wept =

3. Capsized =

C. Choose the correct answers for each question below.

1. Why was Dang Embun heartbroken?

2. Who asked the crew to push Dang Embun's small boat?

3. When did the storm come?

4. What happened to Nakhod Manis's ship?
