

PRESENT SIMPLE AND FUTURE SIMPLE

Dear Diary,

I _____ (be) so happy today. I _____ (know) that my friends _____ (have) a party for me soon.

My best friend, Lia _____ (be) acting strange. She usually _____ (eat) with me at the 10:00 break, but not today. It _____ (be) 11:30 now.

After school, she always _____ (go) home, but today after school she _____ (say) that she _____ (not come) home. We _____ (be) neighbors, so I can always _____ (see) if she _____ (be) at home.

Sometimes, when she _____ (not know) how much I can see, she _____ (try) to lie, but it never _____ (work). She _____ (not lie) well and nobody _____ (believe) when she _____ (do) lie.

Some people _____ (have) a poker face, but all of my friends _____ (tell) the truth and _____ (be) good kids.

Lia _____ (say) that she _____ (need) to go to her Aunt's to babysit after school.

Strange, she _____ (have) never babysat before. She _____ (not need) the money since her parents _____ (give) her money when she _____ (want). She _____ (not need) to work when she _____ (be) older. They _____ (buy) her a home and everything else.

I _____ (think) that she _____ (meet) with our friends after school, and they _____ (plan) my surprise party, for next week. They _____ (choose) someone to bring the drinks, someone _____ (bake) the cake, someone _____ (keep) me busy so I _____ (not know) about the party.

They _____ (make) a great surprise party for me.

I really _____ (love) parties and my birthday _____ (be) next week.

_____ (you get) surprise parties every year from your friends?

I _____ (not bore) you more, diary, with my story since I

_____ (not read) books for school and _____ (not like) to read a lot.

I _____ (write) more tonight before _____ (get) into bed, but not much.
