

One of the equal parts into which the ownership of a company is divided	spending
A sudden and unexpected stop or pause.	a share
A description of what is likely to happen in the future, based on the information that you have now.	development
A macroeconomic term that refers to a significant decline in general economic activity in a designated region.	support measures
The percentage rates used for calculating interests over particular periods of time.	abrupt halt
An official statement that a government makes about how much it intends to spend and what taxes will be necessary.	household
The process of increasing business, trade, and industrial activity.	forecast
The plans of a government to give money to a group, organization, or event etc to encourage it or pay for its costs.	gross domestic product
Sales to members of the public, rather than to a shop or other business.	public budget
The total value of all goods and services produced in a country, in one year, except for income received from abroad.	recession
The main street of a town where most of the shops and businesses are.	a figure
All the people who live together in one house, or relating to looking after a house and the people in it	interest rates
A number representing an amount, especially an official number.	retail sales
The amount of money spent, especially by a government or organization.	high street