

Shared Read 2

Buyung walked out of his village and into the forest. He did not know where to go. "I have walked so far today and it is getting dark," he said to himself. He cried. He was scared. He wanted to go back to the village but he knew the villagers would send him away. That night he had to sleep in the forest.

The next day, he kept walking. "Hey! That sounds like water flowing. I will look because I am thirsty," he said. After a few more steps, he saw a river. He drank some water and took a bath. "What a beautiful place this is," he said to himself. "It's far from the village. I will make a hut."

Buyung started to chop down some trees and bamboo to build a hut. Soon his hut was ready. He felt happy. He was glad to be free from the unkind villagers. Every day he went fishing. He set his trap in the river. He caught fish and put them in his own small pool.

One night, there was heavy rain. The area around his hut was flooded. Many of his fish swam away in the river and his hut fell down. Buyung had to sleep between the roots of the trees. He felt cold and sleepy.

Exercise 1

Look at the pictures below. These pictures showed what happened in the story. Match with the correct sentence and write a dialogue based on the sentence.

Buyung was told to leave the village. The people were cross with him.

Buyung drank and washed at the river. He decided to stay there.

Buyung slept in the forest because it was too dark to keep walking.

Buyung was told to leave the village. The people were cross with him.

Go away! Leave this village!

2.

3.

Exercise 2 Write what Buyung might be thinking/ feeling in each face.

I am so sad because the flood washed my fish away down the river.

I am _____ because _____
_____.

Exercise 3 Facial expressions and emotion words

happy

sad

worried

hurt

cross

surprised doubtful

frightened

relieved

1)	2)	3)

4)	5)	6)

7)	8)	9)