Name.....Class.....No.....

Match headlines and news

Thundershowers, cold snap forecast in upper Thailand

Liverpool survive Norwich scare, Chelsea strike late to down Palace

Thailand No 3 in digital skills index

Bangkok will be officially called Krung Thep Maha Nakhon

Suspected human trafficker arrested in Songkhla

Family files B72m suit against police over pedestrian's death

MANCHESTER: Mohamed Salah's 150th Liverpool goal and Luis Diaz's first kept the Reds in the hunt for the Premier League title as they came from behind to beat Norwich 3-1, while Chelsea snatched a late win at Crystal Palace on Saturday.

SONGKHLA: A man wanted for alleged involvement in smuggling illegal migrants from Myanmar to Malaysia was arrested at a house in Sadao district of this southern province on Saturday.

Outbreaks of thundershowers with gusty winds and hail are forecast for the North, the Northeast, the Central region including Bangkok and the East from Sunday, the Thai Meteorological Department announced in its 5am forecast.

Thailand ranks third out of 19 countries in workplace digital skill readiness, according to a survey by Salesforce, a global customer relationship management service provider, with slightly more than half of respondents in the country feeling prepared.

The parents of the doctor killed by a police motorcyclist on a zebra crossing in Bangkok have filed a 72-million-baht lawsuit against the Royal Thai Police Office (RTPO) and the junior officer who hit her last month.

The Office of the Royal Society announces the changing of the official name of Bangkok to Krung Thep Maha Nakhon, but Bangkok is still recognised.

LIVEWORKSHEETS