

An industrial city

Match each concept with its correct definition.

Urban transport

Steamships transported heavy goods over long distances.

Expansion district

Trains became the main means of transport for people and goods.

The train

Factories were located on the outskirts of cities with good access to transport links.

Working-class neighbourhood

Electric trams became the most efficient passenger transport in cities.

Market

The old city walls were knocked down and new areas were created with wide avenues, houses with gardens and expensive apartments.

Port

Workers lived in the old part of the city or on the outskirts.

Industrial area

The markets supplied the population with all kinds of food.