

Once upon a time there was a dog and a wolf that live in a small barn near a blue river. The dog liked to run and chase hens all the time when they came out to eat.

While the wolf always played with some pigs to jump over mud. One day the wolf and the dog found each other face to face near the blue river.

The dog and the wolf became friends and start to play together. Every afternoon they met at the blue river to explore around the forest.

Everything was good until one day the dog and the fox found a gold coin, the dog wanted to keep the coin, but also the fox. It was impossible that both could keep it!

They had a big fight! So decided to leave the coin hidden below a rock for two days until they decided which one should keep the coin.

After two days separated, the fox and the dog got together and both were very sad, they said to each other that they prefer to have no coin but always be friends and play together near the blue river.
