Cambridgeshire, UK

This spring we'll celebrate the Ely Eel Festival. It happens every year at the end of April for three days. It's a new festival but we love it. It celebrates the city of Ely. Some people say our city takes its name from the eel – a long, slippery fish.

On the first day, we'll walk in the parade, which starts near the cathedral. After that, we'll watch the eel-throwing competition in the market square. They won't be real eels! People make them with socks and put rice inside. After the competition, there'll be music and dancing and the town criers will ring their bells.

Eels are symbols of good luck so some people get married on that day.
