It was a warm summer's evening, and I was walking home from a friend's party. I had a great time and I was in a good mood. (1)…… , it was too good to be true.

All of a (2)……., I heard a loud scream behind me. It seemed like it came from the old house on the corner that everyone was (3)…… . I quickly turned around and switched on my torch because I couldn't see anything in the (4)…… . I walked into that house.

As I entered the house, a gust of wind slammed the door behind me. I was (5) …… . I tried hard to open it but I was out of (6) ……. – it was stuck. It seemed like I had no choice but to walk further into the house. I walked into the dark narrow corridors. I tried to locate the source of those screams when I heard a whisper in my ears saying " get …OUT". My heart fell between my feet.

I turned around and found myself face to face with what was- without a (7) …… the most terrifying (8) …… I had ever seen. I stood there unable to move. Everything became dark.
