The image contains ten cartoon children, each holding a flag of a different country. The children are arranged in a grid-like fashion. The flags are: China (red with yellow stars), Germany (horizontal stripes of black, red, and gold), Canada (red with a white maple leaf), the United States (stars and stripes), Italy (vertical stripes of green, white, and red), Argentina (horizontal stripes of light blue, white, and light blue with a yellow sun), France (vertical stripes of blue, white, and red), Spain (horizontal stripes of red, yellow, and red with a crown), Brazil (green with a yellow rhombus and a blue globe), and the United Kingdom (Union Jack). Each child is holding their respective flag. To the right of the children is a dashed rectangular box containing a list of country names with corresponding letters.
