The Asian Games owes its origins to small Asian multi-sport competitions. The Far Eastern Championship Games were created to show unity and cooperation among three nations: Japan, the Philippines and China. The first games were held in Manila, the Philippines in 1931. Other Asian nations participated after it was organized.

After World War II, a number of Asian countries became independent. Many of the new independent Asian countries wanted to use a new type of competition where Asian dominance should not be shown by violence and should be strengthened by mutual understanding. In August 1948, during the 14th Olympic Games in London, Indian representative Guru Dutt Sondhi proposed to sports leaders of the Asian teams the idea of having discussions about holding the Asian Games. They agreed to form the Asian Athletic Federation. A preparatory committee was set up to draft the charter for the Asian amateur athletic federation. In February, 1949, the Asian athletic federation was formed and used the name Asian Games Federation. It was decided to hold the first Asian Games in 1951 in New Delhi the capital of India. They added that the Asian Games would be regularly held once every four years.

Read the following passage and choose the correct answer to each of the questions.

Because writing has become so important in our culture, we sometimes think of it as more real than speech. A little thought, however, will show why speech is primary and writing secondary to language. Human beings have been writing (as far as we can tell from surviving evidence) for at least 5000 years; but they have been talking for much longer, doubtless ever since there have been human beings.

When writing did develop, it was derived from and represented speech, although imperfectly. Even today there are spoken languages that have no written form. Furthermore, we all learn to talk well before we learn to write; any human child who is not severely handicapped physically or mentally will learn to talk: a normal human being cannot be prevented from doing so. On the other hand, it takes a special effort to learn to write. In the past many intelligent and useful members of society did not acquire the skill, and even today many who speak languages with writing systems never learn to read or write, while some who learn the rudiments of those skills do so only imperfectly.

To affirm the primacy of speech over writing is not, however, to disparage the latter.

One advantage writing has over speech is that it is more permanent and makes possible the records that any civilization must have. Thus, if speaking makes us human, writing makes us civilized.

38: We sometimes think of writing as more real than speech because _____.

- A. writing is secondary to language
- B. human beings have been writing for at least 5000 years
- C. it has become very important in our culture
- D. people have been writing since there have been human beings

39: The author of the passage argues that _____.

- A. speech is more basic to language than writing
- B. writing has become too important in today's society
- C. everyone who learns to speak must learn to write
- D. all languages should have a written form

40: According to the passage, writing _____.

- A. is represented perfectly by speech
- B. represents speech, but not perfectly
- C. developed from imperfect speech
- D. is imperfect, but less so than speech

41: Normal human beings _____.

- A. learn to talk after learning to write
- B. learn to write before learning to talk
- C. learn to write and to talk at the same time
- D. learn to talk before learning to write

42: Learning to write is _____.

- A. easy
- B. too difficult
- C. not easy
- D. very easy

43: In order to show that learning to write requires effort, the author gives the example of _____.

- A. people who learn the rudiments of speech
- B. severely handicapped children
- C. intelligent people who couldn't write
- D. people who speak many languages

44: Which of the following is NOT true?

- A. It is easy to acquire the writing skill.
- B. Writing has become so important in our culture.
- C. Writing represents speech, but not perfectly.
- D. Speech is essential but writing has important benefits.

45: The word "advantage" in the last paragraph most closely means _____.

- A. rudiments
- B. skill
- C. domination
- D. benefit
