

Predicate Adjectives

If the subject of a linking verb is being linked to an adjective, that adjective is called the “predicate adjective”.

Example:

Bob is happy.

“happy” is an adjective.

The subject “Bob” is being linked to the adjective “happy”.

Question 8

Identify the Predicate Adjective in each sentence by rewriting it in the box provided.

- 8.1. The music box was pretty.
- 8.2. After a night’s rest, I felt tired still.
- 8.3. Doesn’t the cheese smell awful?
- 8.4. The sunlight looks bright.
- 8.5. The flowers in our garden are beautiful.
- 8.6. During the class discussion, few students were quiet.
- 8.7. The alarm on your phone sounds strange.
- 8.8. That noise is annoying!
- 8.9. The man was old and crotchety.
- 8.10. After the cold shower, I was miserable.