b. Read the text. Circle T for True or F for False.

The Aztecs lived in Mexico about 700 years ago. They had a big city. Its name was Tenochtitlan. They made their houses from wood. Palaces and temples were made of stone. Around the city the Aztecs had farms and planted fruit and vegetables. They planted lots of corn, beans and chilies. They used tools to help them. They hunted and fished, too, but they didn't raise chickens or dogs.

Aztec children learned at home until they were fourteen years old. Then they started school. Boys and girls went to school. At school, boys learned to read and write. They didn't write words. They used pictures. The pictures were called hieroglyphics. Girls learned how to cook and sew. They also learned how to look after children.
