The new computer

Tony and his mother bought a computer and took it home in the car. They carried the box into the dining room and put the new computer on the table.

"I can use the computer to study for university," said Tony's mother. "You and your sister can play on it, we can all write letters on it and you can use it for homework too."

"What shall we do on the computer first, Mum?" Tony asked. "We'll write a nice letter to your grandma. We can post it in town later. We must go to the shop at five o'clock to get some food for dinner," she answered.

It took a long time to write the letter because they had to learn a lot of things about the computer. Tony and his mother didn't look at the clock. When Tony's father and older sister came home, Tony and his mum were still working on the computer. It was six o'clock! "Hello! What's for dinner?" Tony's dad asked.

Tony's mother looked at the clock. It was too late to buy some chicken and salad from the shop because it closed at half past five. "We can have some bread and jam to eat this evening," Mum said. "There isn't anything else!"
