Listen to the audio as many times as you need to, and then fill in the blanks.

A new survey _____ that people who use the Internet _____ much may have _____ health problems. The survey said that people who are _____ to the Internet have _____ in _____ if they cannot get online _____. The _____ is from McMaster University in _____. Researchers _____ at the Internet _____ of 254 students and then looked at the students' _____ mental _____. Thirty-three of the _____ were addicted to the Internet. The researchers said _____ 107 students had problems because of their Internet _____. These included _____, anxiety, _____ and inattention. A professor said we still know _____ about the dangers of Internet addiction and need to do more _____ into it.

The lead researcher in the _____, professor Michael Van Ameringen, _____ what kind of problems he _____ with students. He said: "We found that [students addicted to the Internet] had significantly more _____ dealing with their day-to-day _____, including life at _____, at _____ or school and in _____ settings." Professor Van Ameringen added: "[People] with Internet addiction also had significantly higher _____ of depression and _____ symptoms, problems with _____ and [problems with] time _____." The professor said we needed to find _____ just how big the problem of Internet addiction is. He also said we needed to find out if mental health problems _____ Internet addiction.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

LIVEWORKSHEETS