Read some facts from Charles Dickens' biography. Choose an adjective or an adverb in each case.

Charles Dickens was propable / probably one of the most famous / famously writers of the Victorian era, and anything that resembles his work has now been granted the honorable / honorably title "Dickensian". Although his stories usually have happy endings, his own story most certain / certainly did not start happy / happily. Dickens' early life was spent most / mostly in debtor's prison because his poor dad couldn't pay off his debts so the whole family had to join him in prison, that was a fairly typical / typically practice in Victorian England.

For 3 years a 12-year-old boy had to work in a rat-infested factory endless / endlessly, wrapping, tying, and pasting labels onto jars of black boot polish to help his family pay off the debts, and the terrible / terribly working conditions were a major inspiration to his writing.

As an adult, he appeared to be a more light-hearted / light-heartedly man, often pulling practical jokes. He had a fake bookcase with books that were humorous / humorously titled, including Noah's Arcitechture and a nine-volume set titled Cat's Lives. Dickens was also interested in the paranormal. He was a member of The Ghost Club.

LIVEWORKSHEETS