

ANCIENT GREECE

Complete the blank spaces by dragging the correct information.

Polis – Athens – war – Mediterranean – independent – Peninsula – civilization – Europe

Ancient Greece begins in the year 1200 BC and ends in a year 146 BC. It was founded in southeastern _____, near the _____ Sea and the Aegean Sea. In this area which included a large _____ and many small islands, the Greek civilization was born and developed their _____. It was made up of a lot of cities called _____. The most powerful were Sparta and _____. Each Polis governed itself and was _____ of the rest although many times. _____ was declared on each other, and sometimes they even allied with one other police to go against the third.

mysterious – lightening – mermaids – polytheists – heroes – Poseidon

The ancient Greeks were _____, they believed in many gods. Greek mythology is full of _____ stories and legends. The most powerful God was Zeus, lord of _____, and next to him there were many others: like _____, the god of the Seas. In Greek mythology, there were also _____ like Hercules and Achilles and strange beings like minotaur and _____.

Father – newborn – instruments – school – decorated – wool – difference – olives

When a baby was born in Ancient Greece, the _____ did a ritual dance, holding the _____ baby. For boy babies, the family _____ the house with wreaths of _____. For girl babies, the family decorated the house with wreaths made of _____. There were many _____ in the lives of boys and girls as they grew up. One main difference was that girls did not go to _____ and boy did. Some girls learn to play musical _____.

memorize – war - lyre - education – military – two - writing – poetry -

When boys were about seven years old, they started their formal _____. They went to school and learned reading, _____ and mathematics. They had to _____ everything because there were no books. They also memorized _____ and they learn to play a musical instrument such as the _____. At school, boys learned about art and _____. At the age of 18, boys went to _____ school for _____ years.