42.

Listen to the lecture and fill the gaps in the summary below.

Both anthropologists and archaeologists study the way people live together. Anthropologists study humans' physical, social and _____ development, and they _____ research by going to locations to ask questions and make _____.

Archaeologists study past societies through their material _____. They recover and examine evidence such as ruins, _____ and pottery in order to understand the history, customs and living _____ of earlier _____.

These scientists also examine aspects of living societies such as _____ differences, physical _____, music or religion. Their field is the wide _____ of human social experience.

LIVEWORKSHEETS