A. Read the lines of a poem about money. Rearrange them in the order given above to form an octopoem.

It is a thick protective coat,

It is a rich leather armchair,

It is dough used to make bread.

It is for a rainy day.

It is hard work I did last summer,

To sit and watch 'Money Heist',

It is growing in the bank,

Money is red,

B. Rewrite the octopoem in the correct order in the space provided.
