Question 21: Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer to questions.

Today, computer companies sell many different programs for computers. First, there are programs for doing math problems. 1 (Twice/Second/Two/Double), there are programs for scientific studies. Third, some programs are like fancy typewriters. They are often used by writers and business people. Other 2 (typewriters/students/programs/people) are made for courses in schools and universities. And finally, there are programs for fun. They include word games and puzzles 3 (to/between/with/for) children and adults.

There are many wonderful new computer programs, but there are other reasons to like computers. Some people like the way computers hum and sing when they 4 (have worked/worked/are working/work). It is a happy sound, like the sounds of toy and childhood. Computers also have lights and pretty pictures. They even seem to have personalities. That may sound strange, but computers seem to have feelings. Sometimes they seem happy, sometimes they seem angry. It is easy to think 5 (which/they/that/it) are like people.

Read the story. Then answer the questions.

The Young Scientist Award

Are you good at science? Are you planning to study science at university? If the answer is 'yes' to both these questions, then one day you may want to enter a science competition and win a lot of money. There are a number of different competitions you can enter. The Young Scientist Award is one of these. This competition takes place every year in Washington in the United States. People from all around the world can take part, but they must be students studying science. To enter the competition, you can write about any scientific topic. Last year, entrants had to write at least three thousand words. This year they've made it harder. You must write between four and five thousand words. The best and most interesting entry will win! There are a number of prizes which include day courses at some of the top universities around the world. The two top prizes are $2,000 and $5,000. Last year's top winner was Rosa Alvares. Rosa is from Brazil but is in her first year at Leeds University. At eighteen years old, she's the youngest person ever to win the top prize. The second top prize winner was another young woman: Lian Wang from China. At the time Lian was finishing her course at university. She now works as a scientist in the US.
