

Choose the correct alternative:

Somehow You Do (Reba McEntire)

So you feel like you've run outta (rope / hope)
Carrying all that (weight / break)
Your back's about to (weight / break)
And you're standing at the end of your (rope / hope)
You wanna give up the (sight / fight)
You see no relief in (sight / fight)
And it's hard to keep the (faith / day)
But the darkest night still finds the (faith / day)

Chorus:

When you think it's the end of the (code / road)
It's just 'cause you don't (know / go) where the road's leading (to / through)
When you think that the mountain's too (wide / high)
And the ocean's too (wide / high),
you'll never get (to / through)
Some way, somehow,
somehow you do

So you feel like you're right on the (brink / rink)
Oh, you're in the battle alone
And life's punched a hole in your (soul / knees)
Yeah, you've been brought to your (soul / knees)
But there's better days up (again / ahead)
You'll be back on your feet (again / ahead)
And you're gonna be (day / ok)
Oh, the darkest night will find the (day / ok)

(Chorus)

'Cause it's those times,
it's those times when times get (bad / had)
You'll find the strength
you didn't know you even (bad / had)
Somehow you'll get through this

(Chorus)
