Travelling back in time by Alex Tsirigotis, aged 12

Do you want to travel into the past? It's not difficult!

When we look into the sky at night, we see the Moon and stars.

But we also see the past! Stars shine (like the Sun shines). This means that light comes from them. But the stars are a very long way away. Because of that, the light from the stars has a long journey to get to us here on Earth. How long? Sometimes millions of years. When we look at some stars, we see more than 2,000,000 years in the past! That's right – we see these stars as they were millions of years ago. Think about it! It's amazing!

The Sun and the Moon are closer to Earth than the stars, so the light doesn't take so long to get here. When we look at the Sun, the light is about 8 minutes old. (But we must never look straight at the Sun because it's very dangerous.) When we look at the Moon, we only see about 1 second into the past!

- 31 Alex says that travelling into the past is _____.
 A difficult B easy C dangerous
- 32 To 'shine' means to _____.
 A look at the Moon B go on a journey C make light
- 33 Light from stars takes _____ time to get to Earth.
 A no B a long C a short
- 34 Light takes about eight _____ to travel from the Sun to Earth.
 A seconds B minutes C years
- 35 In the pictures, we can't see any _____.
 A people B stars C light
