Exercise 6: Read the information. Then read the extracts from a lecture on the history of money and choose the five phrases that signal the introduction of a new topic.

Cues help you find the part of the recording you need to answer the questions and complete sentences, but you also need to follow the ideas the speakers talk about.

You can do this by listening for signaling phrases. These are phrases that a speaker can use to:

- introduce a new point or topic (e.g. We'll start by ..., But that wasn't the only...)
- make a point about the current topic (e.g. It should be noted that ...)
- give a definition or an explanation (e.g. In other words, ...).

- Well, we'll start by thinking about the situation in prehistoric times.
- It was in western Turkey, however, that the system of producing coins became more organized.
- The only problem with these little tools is that they looked just like the real ones.
- Now, about 3,000 years ago, there was an interesting development, and this happened in China.
- This is a metal which is quite easy to use and to make large tools from.
- It's something that's so easy to buy in the supermarket nowadays.
- But that wasn't the only big development in China.
