Every year thousands of people travel to Britain (1) improve their standard of English. For many, (2), this can be a painful experience (3) the fact that it involves attending a strange school, staying in sometimes unpleasant accommodation and living in an unfamiliar culture. One (4) to these problems is the Homestay method. With this, students are each assigned a teacher suited to their language requirements and interests. (5) giving individual tuition, the teacher provides the students (6) information about what activities are available locally and take them on trips. Students get between ten or twenty hours of tuition a week and are also expected to join in the family's daily activities. The students speak English at all times. (7) they can learn how to use the language in everyday situations. Homestay programmes usually (8) for up to four weeks. (9) costs are higher than of regular language schools, students can feel (10) that they will be receiving top-class language teaching in a safe and pleasant environment.
