When we arrived in the city we decided to visit the cathedral first because it is such an amazing building. Then we crossed the street at the traffic lights and walked past the entrance to the university. Lots of students were standing outside.

After that, we went into the national library and looked around, and then we had a cold drink in the cafe there. We had to run to the railway station. We nearly missed our train! I had a really great day.

Remember!

English spelling is difficult because lots of English words come from other languages. Learn these spelling rules about c and g.

- If c is followed by a, o, u or is at the end of a word, it sounds like /k/, for example customer, picnic
- If c is followed by e or i, it sounds like /s/, for example city, price
- If g is followed by a, o, u or is at the end of a word, it sounds like /g/, for example guest, bag
- If g is followed by e or i, it sounds like /dʒ/, for example agent, village
The spelling of get, girl and give don't follow this rule.
