What has fins, sharp teeth, and swims in the ocean? A shark!

Sharks have been around for a very long time. Sharks have lived in the oceans even before dinosaurs roamed the earth! Sharks are fish, and there are over 400 types of sharks. When they have babies, the babies are called pups.

Sharks lose their teeth, like humans, but they don't just lose their baby teeth. They lose teeth throughout their lives. When a shark loses a tooth, a tooth from another row of teeth will move into its place. New teeth are always growing. Most sharks are carnivores, so they feed on other animals, like fish or seals.

Sharks might look scary, but they are not usually dangerous to people. People are more dangerous to sharks, since people hunt sharks. To be safe, though, it is a good idea to leave sharks alone if you see them!

Part 6: Read the text. Fill in the blanks with 1,2 or 3 words

It all started two days ago. It was a rainy day. I woke up and went down for breakfast. The lights all over the house were off. I could hear noises coming from the basement. There was water down there. There were toys and things floating by! I could hear Mom's voices. "Hello? What's going on down here?" "The power all over town is out. Our basement is flooded. A lot of houses have water in them, too," Dad called back.

We put all the things to a higher place and stay away from electrical devices. There are things that got all wet so we're going to replace them, too. "It's quite the mess," Mom said.

There were a lot of roads that were closed because of water covering, so we couldn't get to the store. Luckily, mom and dad had prepared enough food and drinks. Many people lost all of their clothes and household items.

"We should go through our stuff and see what we can donate. We're lucky because we only had a couple of inches of water in our basement," said Dad. Mom and I agreed. Even though we didn't have power and fixing the basement could be expensive, we were still lucky.
